

Looking To Save Energy and Money?

We have you covered.

With so many programs to help you save energy, it's easy to get started today.

New to energy savings? Start here.

Our Whole Home Energy Assessment program is a great way to start saving energy and money. Request a no-cost check-up with a certified Energy Analyst, who will show you how your home uses energy and how to save, all in about an hour. Plus, you can receive energy-saving products like ENERGY STAR® certified LED bulbs, smart thermostats, and more at no additional cost.

Get whole-home savings.

Choose the Whole Home Energy Solutions program and a Participating Contractor will perform a comprehensive Home Energy Assessment and give you recommendations for making energy-efficient upgrades, with rebates up to $6,000. Interested in financing opportunities for home upgrades? You may qualify for 0% interest loans for recommended energy-efficient improvements.

Save big on appliances.

Save $30–$750 in rebates with our Appliance Rebate program when you purchase qualifying ENERGY STAR certified products, including refrigerators, clothes washers and dryers, and more. And, you'll keep saving for years to come, thanks to reduced energy costs.

Zoe, Your Good Energy Guide

You shouldn't have to choose between comfort and energy efficiency. That's why we've designed our energy-saving programs to be more accessible and less stressful. If you're not sure where to start, I can help find the best options.

Every program listed here offers ways you can save—from a little to a lot. Because saving money is something everyone can agree on.
